

Nine of Swords

Traditional meaning:

The fear here is not real. It's all in your head. It's your expectations that are causing the fear and worry. It's time to release that fear.

My Interpretation:

The woman is crying by a casket. There are mountains around her, and stormclouds. Swords are all lined up over her head, not threateningly, but maybe in tribute, and in being ready to take action. She has great loss. But there is a sense of pending action.
